

Milestone 3 - The Abstract and Topic Outline

It is time to put together a one paragraph description of your business recommendation. An abstract is a no-nonsense, one paragraph statement of the purpose of your paper. Abstracts are usually 100 words or less. This gives readers a high-level overview of what the paper is about and an opportunity to decide whether they want to read it.

A topic outline allows writers to organize the topics of a paper in a concise, easy-to-follow manner. Use a topical outline as a baseline for what you deliver. Place the topic outline after the title page and before the abstract.

The deliverable for this milestone is a single Word document with the paper's abstract, topic outline, and reference page. Due at the end of Week 6.
